

RELIGIOUS STUDIES WORKSHOP SERIES

VIII. Researching Religion:

Definitions and methodologies

Ramón Soneira-Martínez

The workshop aims to examine, explore, and discuss the theoretical and methodological problems that exist in researching religion. To this end, the workshop will address not only the mode in which religion has historically been understood but also current theoretical debates about its analysis and understanding. The workshop welcomes all students and researchers interested in the academic study of religion.

Ramón Soneira-Martínez is a Postdoctoral Fellow in the Religion Research Group of the Department of Classical Studies at the Austrian Archaeological Institute, Austrian Academy of Sciences and a Research Fellow at the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Vienna. He holds a B.A. in History (UCM, Madrid, 2015), a M.A. in Religious Studies (UCM, Madrid, 2016) and a Ph.D. in Religious Studies from the University of Erfurt and the University of Graz (cotutelle, 2022). Dr Soneira-Martínez is interested in the transhistorical and comparative study of unbelief, focusing mainly on atheistic positions in Greco-Roman religions. His research has resulted in different publications, characterised by the application of theories and methods of the study of religions and non-religion to the analysis of ancient societies.
